Mansholt Publication Series

The Mansholt Publication Series (MPS) contains peer-reviewed textbooks, conference proceedings and thematic publications focussing on social changes and control processes in rural areas and (agri)food chains, and the institutional contexts in which these changes and processes take place. MPS provides a platform for researchers and educators who would like to increase the quality, status and (international) exposure of their teaching materials or of their research output.

MPS is supported by the Mansholt Graduate School which also appoints the members of the editorial board responsible for the quality and content of the overall series. MPS is published and marketed internationally by Wageningen Academic Publishers.
